With its colorful flora, Ohio Northern is well-known for its beautiful landscaping. These vivid flowers provide a cheerful greeting to visitors entering campus.

Having made a new circle of friends, these freshmen have fun participating in the PlayFair activities. PlayFair is one of the initial ways the new students meet other freshmen before classes start.

Have you ever taken a look at Ohio Northern's mission statement? The last sentence states "...students will be exposed to diverse ideas and influences,

The freshmen anticipated the day—nervous but excited for their new beginning as college students. On September 8, they traveled in vehicles stuffed with belongings, heading toward campus. The day proved to be a sweltering hot one, with temperatures in the upper 80's. Nevertheless, the freshmen me feel so welcome!"

Various activities scheduled helped ease the freshmen into college life. Family members and students attended the opening convocation held in the Sports Center. Later, President Kendall Baker and Toby Baker hosted a picnic for the freshmen, followed by the new students' first wing meetings. That evening, freshmen energetically hauled their items to their rooms. Many upperclassmen also braved the heat, helping the freshmen move quickly and efficiently.

"Campus move-in was great!" Stephanie Grenert, freshman biology major said. "It was kind of a nerve-racking time, but all of the student help made it so much better. There were about ten people who swarmed our car as soon as we pulled up. It made

"Playfair was a great experience," said Michelle Geiser, P1. "I think it was so fun because of the number of freshmen students who went. The games were fun and a great way to learn names." The next day, upperclassmen moved in with ease. By that evening, all students were settled in amidst their belongings and ready to begin their first day of classes.

Teetering on the edge of chaos, fraternity brothers Ron Krosky and Matt Bradley from Sigma Pi help deliver freshmen's belongings to their proper rooms. During the move-in day, the hallways of Founders Hall, as well as the other freshmen residence halls, were full of all of the necessary "stuff" students need for college.

Pitching in, President Baker helps carry the belongings of an incoming freshman. Baker takes an active role in campus life and is very available to the students.

Forming diagonal lines, members of the ONU Marching Band play their best during their outstanding halftime performance. Many students participate in the marching band and other bands on campus as a fun break from classes and homework.

For the majority of underclassmen, eating in the dining hall is a major part of their daily life. Breakfast, lunch, dinner and anything in between is served here from early morning until evening.

For many students, one day starts, proceeds and finishes just like the day before and the day yet to come. They wake to the annoying buzzing of their alarm. They smack the snooze button, cherish every last second of the next nine minutes and then smack it again. This time, they lay there staring at the ceiling

Finally ready, they grab their books, coats and a few friends and head toward McIntosh for a quick breakfast. They grab a piece of fruit on their way out and bundle up with scarves, gloves and heavy coats. They each go their separate way across the blustery tundra and spend the rest of the morning in classes. They return again to McIntosh for lunch, attend a few meetings in the above their lofted bed and wonder why in the world they stayed up so late the night before. They rub their eyes, focus them a bit and then climb down the ladder. They glance at their roommate, still peacefully asleep in their bed. "Lucky! I wish I didn't have class until nine." As quietly as they can, they grab their shower bucket and towel and slip on their shower shoes. Opening the door, they squint at the light in the hall that was certainly not made for 7am eyes. They shuffle their way to the bathroom and join the others in a silent wait for the shower.

afternoon and then head back to their room to catch up with friends. They tend to some email, might watch some TV and even tackle some homework before heading to dinner.

When dinner is over, the real "fun" begins. The library fills up. Phones stop ringing and highlighters instead run across pages of textbooks. Diligent minds tend to their studies for the next couple hours until the clock reads later than planned. The next thing they know...Buuuzzz. "It's seven already?"

Resting their vocal cords, two Kappa Phi sisters play a game of ping pong before heading back to their main task at the annual Sing-a-Thon. Numerous organizations and organization-sponsored events are available for students to take part in.

About ready to plunge into the tator tots and brats at the White Bear Inn, students pause for the camera. White Bear is quite a popular place late at night on weekdays.

Late in the fall, construction on the new James F. Dicke Business Building continues. This building will take the place of the current Huber Business Building.

Dealing with the cold, construction workers pour concrete, laying the foundation for the new apartments. These new apartments, located between the main part of campus and the Campus Village Apartments, are supposed to be inhabited by next year.

Becoming a larger presence in the middle of campus, the new addition to the chapel has greatly increased its size. The addition, completed early in the school year, allows for many new activities to be accommodated.

The campus underwent some major changes during the year as new buildings were constructed in which the students could live, learn and worship. Students walked to classes among bulldozers and trucks as the construction began for two new apartment complexes and a new business building. In

The Huber building was becoming crowded due to the influx of new students, and a four million dollar gift to the university allowed for the construction of a new center for business administration, James F. addition, the chapel was expanded with more classrooms and worship rooms.

The increasing number of incoming freshmen and the popularity of the Campus Village Apartments caused a great demand for more campus housing to be built. The construction of two new apartment complexes began in 2002. These buildings were designed in two-person suites, and the complexes were situated on either side of the existing Campus Village Apartments.

Another new addition was the new business building located

One of the largest changes to campus included the expansion of the English Chapel. Complementing the expansion and renovation of the sanctuary, an addition was constructed onto the chapel that included new classrooms for religion classes as well as a multi-faith room. Jessica Wilson, junior biology/French major, says that the addition to the chapel was a great benefit to the chapel staff because of the larger office. According to Jessica, "I also like the expansion of the sanctuary. I look forward to filling it with new growth!"

Rising up out of what was once intramural softball fields, more of ONU's new apartments are being constructed. The new apartments will provide housing for several hundred ONU students who wish to move out of the residence halls and not search Ada for an apartment to rent.

Another area of construction pops up on campus - this time contracting on Dukes. The construction blitz is improving existing buildings, as well as creating new ones.

What a regal looking pair! Newly crowned queen Emily LeVan and king Micah Sobota pose for a quick picture. The two were then hurried off to begin their reign.

Giving big toothy smiles, the two symbols of Ohio Northern, Dr. Kendall Baker and Klondike, pause for a moment before the Homecoming Parade begins. Although they appear to have quite a few differences, both share an enormous amount of school spirit for Ohio Northern.

Patently waiting, members of the color guard and marching band prepare to march down Main Street. The marching band is a favorite of many parade-goers.

Homecoming 2002 took place from October 18-20. According to Ann Donnelly, Associate Director of Alumni Affairs, the theme, "Building New Spaces...Creating New Dreams," reflected all of the current construction activity happening.

festivities took place on Saturday, beginning with the 5K Fun Run in the morning. At 10:00, the parade down Main Street began. There were twelve floats in the parade, as well as the homecoming candidates escorted in Corvettes.

The football team trounced Marietta 42-10. At halftime, P5 Micah Sobota and senior biology major Emily LeVan were crowned king and queen.

The weekend festivities were planned through a joint effort among the Alumni Affairs Office, SPC and the Student Senate. Donnelly commented, "We feel the weekend was a success. The weather always plays a part, and it ended up being beautiful. Another great Homecoming weekend at ONU!"

On Saturday night, country star Kathy Mattea performed at the Freed Center. Her performance was geared toward the alumni. Between 750-1000

you played a direct role."

"In my opinion, the most rewarding time for a Residence Life staff member in a new student hall comes in May when you see that the 'new students' have found their niche here at ONU," said Founders Hall Head Resident Emily LeVan, senior biology major. "Their growth throughout the year is incredible to observe and a

Always on Duty

One of the biggest perks as an RA is that of making new friends. Stambaugh Hall RA and sophomore communication arts major Stephanie Bear said, "People that I might normally never come into contact with are now my good friends. I find myself wanting to do the best programs just to see them smile. Their jokes, laughs and friendship make the rough parts of being an RA worth it."

According to Park Hall Head Resident Jim Cornett, senior technology major, another perk is having the opportunity to see some of your residents grow and mature. "The following year after being an RA, or even later, you can see how your residents have matured and what they have accomplished. Often you know that privilege to be a part of."

Along with the many perks, the RA's are faced with trying to provide entertaining programs for campus students.

"It is a lot of work developing programs that people want to come to, and it does get discouraging when people do not show up, but when a lot of people participate in a program, it is very rewarding," said Northern House RA and sophomore mechanical engineering major Scott Dusenbury.

The next time you find yourself wondering what the life as an RA is like, do not think about the discipline and the weekends on duty, think instead like an RA and focus on the friends, fun and privileges that come with the responsibility.

Ada: the land of corn and... well, not much else. "What is there to do there?" friends of ONU students frequently ask. Much to their surprise, few Polar Bears have difficulty responding. If everything else fails, one can always take advantage of living in the midst of the cornfields. As freshman business major Jenea Bossley said, "Well, this fall after going to the $3 Ada movie theater, I learned how to make crop circle...". There is never a dull moment on this campus!

a daily basis. They also do not have maintenance to fix problems in the rooms and mow their lawns. Furthermore, off-campus students must buy their own food and cook their own meals. Although houses and apartments may initially appear to be a better deal, many students also find themselves shelling out more money for things that were covered in residence hall costs, such as cable TV,

Home Sweet Home

Students living off-campus enjoy such perks as larger living quarters, kitchens, fewer rules and regulations, private bathrooms, as well as an increased sense of independence. The sense of "independence," however, also comes with increased responsibility. As students move out of the residence halls and into houses and apartments, they have to worry about many things that they hadn't before. Students living off-campus no longer have a janitor to clean their bathrooms and living quarters on electricity, furniture, Internet service and water.

Although living off-campus comes with more responsibility, for most students the opportunity for more independence greatly outweighs any other factors. According to junior civil engineering and environmental studies major Brent Barson, "I have been saving money, I can have people over for cookouts and parties and it is easier to study because there are less distractions."

It's fair time! This year ONU students got a huge help in off campus housing when Residence Life hosted a housing fair. Students could get information from local renters and look for roommates.

Helping out, freshman Brian Magee spots for his friend Seth Terlecky, also a freshman. The two enjoy using the weight room to lift and work out whenever they have a chance.

Whether students are playing intercollegiate athletics, taking dance aerobics, playing intramurals or just releasing stress after a difficult exam, many students enjoy exercise as a part of their everyday routine.

There are a variety of aerobic classes taught in the Sports Center that Beauty pageants, midnight football and ping-pong are not typical activities that come to mind when one thinks about life in a residence hall. However, these activities and more take place throughout the school year. A residence hall is not only a place to study and sleep, but also a place to spend free large screen television in Park Hall's mini movie theater. Others enjoy staying in their room, watching television or listening to music.

Of course, activities for students living in the residence halls does not always mean staying in the halls. In many instances, resident assistants organize tournaments and activities for their residents. For example, Maglott Hall RA Rob Sherburne, junior education

After long evenings of studying and homework, students often find stress relief in playing long, competitive table tennis tournaments. Within the blink of an eye, our time at Ohio Northern will come and go. For freshmen, graduation seems miles away, yet as seniors will contest, time flies when you are having fun.

and forward at the same time.' So, my advice would be that instead of thinking about things in the past, focus on the future."

Let's not exclude the freshmen. Each year, the campus experiences a breath of fresh air as new students come to campus. Upperclassmen can remember the experiences of being a freshman: being away from home, meeting new people, demanding classes, senior psychology major. "I don't know where all the time went. Your time in college really does go by fast."

Since seniors are considered the elder statesman on campus, younger students may go to the "wise" for advice. After years of trial and error and learning from their mistakes, seniors emerge from college prepared to make an entrance into the "real world." So, what kind of advice do seniors have for underclassmen, especially freshmen?

"It's hard being in college. You need to keep this in mind. As for advice, I want to advise new students to make the most out of your years in school, but you will always find that things never go as planned," said Michael LaFuze, senior sociology major. "I once read a proverb that says 'it is impossible to look backward adulthood independence and so much more. "I really love it here. My friends are awesome, and my professors are awesome," said Rae Ann Roca, freshman journalism major. "I feel that I'm gaining a lot of experience as a writer, and I am actually learning something. It's a big change from high school, but a good change."

To sum up the experiences of the first year of college into as few words as possible, Emily Zepf, freshman creative writing major gives her view.

"I guess I would say that I am really enjoying college, especially after I settled in and got to know the girls who live around me," said Zepf. "I am more comfortable now and almost dread going home!"

Chowing down, Bethany Lifer and Rachelle Younger are joined by a few of their friends to enjoy a quick meal in the cafeteria. For seniors who live off campus, the menu is whatever they want, but for underclassmen, the cafeteria makes eating quicker and easier.

Theater and dance had a diverse array of performances throughout the year, starting in October with Jazz, Blues and Dance III, which featured the Sonus Artis Ensemble and the ONU Dance Company. After the smooth moves of Jazz, Blues and Dance came the gripping theatrical performance of Medea

Soldiers.

According to junior management major Jason Duff, who has been involved in the production for three years, "This year's show was unique because of the all-star cast of experienced actors and very talented incoming freshmen. The cast was extremely dedicated, and that dedication was evident from the success of the

In December, the seventh annual Holiday Spectacular was held at the Freed Center and as in Lima. The Holiday Spectacular's unique blend of music, dance and theatrical performance featured a diverse collection of music ranging from classic Christmas tunes to modern "boy band" style melodies. Dance performances ranged from ballet from The Nutcracker to a lively tap routine of Toy

In February, Candide was performed in the Stambaugh Theater. Candide followed the misfortune of a man throughout his life and featured a musical score by Leonard Bernstein. The spring play was The Who's Tommy by Pete Townshend, the rock and roll story of an adolescent pinball superstar. The Who's Tommy featured classic rock that appealed to multiple generations and made the show a big hit.

There was also Laser Tag, which was not only open to siblings, but to all ONU students. Also, siblings were able to enjoy getting their picture taken with the school mascot, Klondike. In the evening, Sigma Theta Epsilon sponsored a dance party, an event planned for the older age group.

Several Christian groups on campus experienced an increase in membership. What is the best way for organizations to make some money on a college campus? Do fundraisers of course! From shaving a professor's head and dressing a professor in silly clothes, to door-to-door bake sales and sing-a-thons, Ohio Northern organizations never slack when it comes to year to benefit our national philanthropy, CASA (Court Appointed Special Advocates). Our two biggest fundraisers for CASA are our Mr. ONU pageant and Theta Twister. These events are tons of fun for everyone and typically earn several hundred dollars to be sent directly to our philanthropy."

Another popular fundraiser on campus was the making money.

While some organizations made money to help fund a trip or pay day-to-day expenses, others donated their funds to a given charity or philanthropy. Regardless of where the money went, it was always well spent and well earned. Most importantly, everyone always had a great deal of fun while raking in the dough! For example, senior communication arts major Christie McConnell of Alpha Xi Delta said, "We do at least one fundraising event a quarter to benefit our philanthropy, Choose Children, and throughout the year, we contribute to other organizations' fundraisers, but the most enjoyable of all is fundraising for Fuzzie Football!" Additionally, sophomore middle childhood education major Sarah Vowell, Vice President of Personal Relations for Kappa Alpha Theta, said, "As a sorority, we participate in several service projects throughout the yearly Sing-a-Thon to help benefit the March of Dimes. Organized by Kappa Phi each year, their goal was to get each and every organization on campus involved and have people singing in half-hour intervals for a twenty-four hour period. "Every year we have a great time and enjoy staying up all night with friends," said senior professional writing major Katie Folsom of Kappa Phi.

So, regardless of the method of getting there, not only was a great deal of money made to benefit various organizations, but also everyone had fun. Perfectly said by senior journalism major Tiffany Courtney, President of Sigma Tau Delta: "Not only are fundraisers successful, but they were also a great way for a group to work together towards a common goal and have a good time all in one."

The singers' group included a 64-voice choir and 21-piece orchestra under the direction of Dennis Kratzer. The Student Planning Committee's motto, "cheap thrills," explained in two words the basic gist of the organization. SPC's main goal was to sponsor activities and entertainment for students nearly every weekend throughout the year. The events were a way for students without cars or cash to have Ada, who entertained students with free shows in the Freed Center. A unique event that the SPC brought to campus was the coffee house event with musician Ryan Adcock.

The Student Planning Committee provided students with some good "cheap thrills" just about every weekend of the year. "Every year, SPC brings a movie for the great college drive-in, fun on weekends because all of the events were free and took place right on campus.

This year, SPC organized events such as Little Sibs' Weekend, Moms' Day and Dads' Day. These events brought students together with their families who participated in planned games, meals and social activities. SPC also brought talented comedians and hypnotists to

Worship Design Team

Contemplating calling or raising, Jeremy Weaver, Jarrett Dickey, Andrew Schrum and Jeff Meyer enjoy a game of Texas Hold 'Em. Many late nights in Roberts Hall were spent playing games such as these this year.

Trying to sink their puts, Chad Webb, Drew Nedderman and Kevin Deily toss their discs at the basket. Even though this target is stationary, ONU will be getting eighteen of their own permanent baskets for the new ONU disc golf course. The course will start and end at the King-Horn sports center.

After a ride in Findlay, Scott White, Andrew Schrum and Jeff Jewell take a breather. The short trail in Findlay is nothing technical, but it's somewhere close for ONU mountain bikers.

Feeling charitable, Jon Sayler, Stephanie Creekpaum, Julia Meathrel and Carisa Kaufman pose for a picture after the Multiple Sclerosis Walk in Lima.

Working out, a few ONU students take advantage of an aerobic class in King Horn. Throughout the year, there have been step aerobics and kickboxing classes offered during the week.

Hanging out with Chuckie, a group of ONU students take a break from studying at Chuckie Cheese in Fort Wayne, Indiana. A favorite pastime of many college students is revisiting their childhood in ways such as this.

Enjoying the scenery, Nick Yodice gives Carisa Kaufman a piggyback ride at Cleland Rock. A few ONU students took a trip to the University of Pittsburgh where they stopped at this national park.

It's a 'Burgh thing! Representing about six different high schools in the Pittsburgh area, this group is proud of their common bond.

What are we gonna do dahntahn 'n'at? This group discusses what they're going to do over the summer when they return to Pittsburgh, PA. The decision was unanimous to check out a Bucos game and grab some Primanti's.

Welcoming the new-comers, Alexis Crowell and Stephanie Spiner are all smiles knowing their friends Jenny Spencer and Jon Ellegood will soon be moving to Pittsburgh. This group of graduating seniors was glad to find out that they'll have more opportunities to spend time together, living in the same area.

They must be from the Steel City! Relaxing and eating food comes so naturally for these folks. This party took place in Clark Hall to celebrate the culture of Pittsburgh and to welcome some incoming 'Burghers.

When not engineering something, senior mechanical engineer Tim "Turbo" Sealife performs in the jazz band. While his calculator may be his instrument of choice in the classroom, the trombone is the instrument of choice for music.

Sun and ice, in what seems a typical day at Ohio Northern, both exist at the same time. Winters this year dumped enough snow it took a week of 60 degree days to melt most of it! Parkas are especially popular around this campus.

Showing he can play a mean air, or broom, guitar, senior Ethan Miller thrills the audience with his lipsyncing abilities and great facial expressions. Ethan was performing during the talent show on Habitat's spring break trip to Oklahoma City.

Diligently working, senior copy editor Roxanne Weaver proofreads the names from the organizational photographs. This was just one of the many jobs the staff worked on at the annual pizza dinner lock-in.

The production of the Northern Yearbook is truly a yearlong process. From the brainstorming in the summer to the final proofing the following summer, the yearbook becomes a reality only through the intense creativity of a special group of dedicated individuals.

Copy editor Roxanne Weaver and her staff had the task of writing all the articles for each spread. The Northern Yearbook gave these writers the opportunity to be creative and talk to students about life at Ohio Northern. Our staff of writers included Jennifer Asimakopoulos, Jennifer Smith, Mandy Willey, Jen Vandever, Meredith VanDyck and Lisa Williams.

The Yearbook Staff

Design editor Katie Schott spent countless hours designing the layout and overall identity of the book, creating spreads, editing pictures and organizing and training her staff. Even though the basic layout of the spreads were consistent, designers still had a lot of room for creativity. The 2003 design staff consisted of Bri Bowshier, Andrew Brown, Kellie Chenault, Jes Crews and Lisa Liles.

Using his deep understanding of the camera, photography editor Nathan Gabriel traversed the campus the entire year photographing campus events and student life. His staff shared this responsibility of recording the ONU experience. Photographers this year were Stephanie Creekpau, Christa Glover, Amanda Lake, Andrew Schrum and Evan Sterling.

essential all-purpose worker for the yearbook.

Editor-in-chief Ashley Dally spent the year trying her best to maintain staff enthusiasm and keep everything on schedule, while also designing spreads, proofing pages and leading meetings. Advisor Melanie Caw Woods also helped the staff keep its focus throughout the year.

The most important people involved with this book, however, are the students, faculty and staff of Ohio Northern University. The Northern Yearbook is only possible through the incredible involvement of the ONU community.

Business editor Angela Swiergosz had the enormous job of organizing the distribution of the yearbooks to the ONU community. Angela was an

After intimidating their competition, these brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon celebrate their Greek Week Mud Volleyball championship. The victors include Aaron Oeken, Tony Steffel, Matt Schwab, Chad Elkins, Doug Maneely, Greg Prymicz, Joe Rehring, Derek Freed, Brad Crombie, Nick Brown and Todd Stewart.

Prior to the race, Kappa Alpha Theta sisters Erin Smith, Kris Gaither, Alicia St. Johns, Melissa Husson, Lauren Mackey and Daniella Harley pose with their chariot. The chariot race was part of the Greek Week competition.

Sliding through the crowd, this ONU student enjoys the nice weather during Greek Week. Greek Week is a time when brothers and sisters compete against each other in friendly competition.

Showing off their choreographed routine, the sisters of Alpha Xi Delta dance to the music. They were also singing a modified version of the song "Free Your Mind."

April 22 began the week sorority and fraternity members anticipated all year—Greek Week. The week began with Greek Sing, held in King Horn, and the water games were on Wednesday.

Thursday's festivity was the Match Game in the ballroom. "Each fraternity and the teams were of four people, but the whole Chapter could yell out answers so, basically, everyone was a part of the action."

Greeks got muddy for mud volleyball on Friday, and Saturday was the Greek Olympics. On Sunday, before the awards ceremony, the Greeks put on a kids' carnival for the Ada community.

Zeta Tau Alpha and Phi Delta Chi were the overall Greek

sorority had four people on a team and it was basically just a guessing game," said

Kristin Stoner, sophomore communication arts major and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta. "I enjoyed it because it got some of the faculty and staff involved, and we all had a blast trying to guess their answers. Also,

Week winners. Phi Delta Chi also brought home Outstanding Greek Chapter of the Year honors, along with Delta Zeta on the women's side. Alpha Xi Delta's Johni

Amos, senior sociology major, was named the Outstanding Greek Women of the Year, while P3 Chester Kaczor, member of Phi Delta Chi, was named Outstanding Greek Male.

Cheering each other on is a big part of Greek Week. Each spring the sororities and fraternities of ONU participate in fun activities together, engage in friendly competition and just have a good time.

Really getting into the act, the brothers of the Phi Kappa Theta fraternity show their spirit as they transform a popular country song into one honoring Greek life at ONU. The Greek Sing event is one of the most popular of the week, where all the fraternities and sororities compete with their musical talents.

Picking apart the defense, senior Tara Anderson spikes one past her Baldwin-Wallace opponents. Anderson had a very successful volleyball career, becoming the all-time career kills leader and also garnering 1st Team All-OAC, 2nd Team Academic All-OAC and 1st Team All-Region.

In honor of their OAC tournament championship, members of the 2001-2002 women's tennis team accept their banner from Dr. Baker. Susan Wolfe, Julie Oestreich, Andrea Messer, Holly Creitz, Lauren Palowitz, Karen Lee, Erica Sawyer, Becky Stalter and Laura Feasel all helped ONU win its first ever OAC title last year.

Down and ready, senior Sarah Wolff prepares to field the ball. The Polar Bears finished their season with the most number of wins since the 1986 season.

Led by Head Coach Tom Kaczowski, the football team finished the season 5-5 overall, 5-4 in the OAC, finishing in fifth place in the conference. Although ONU started the season with three consecutive losses, the team fought back to win four of their last five games, including two shutouts.

All-OAC, along with senior Josh Vogel. Senior Dan Stewart and junior Jeff Mangas were Honorable Mention selections. Along with Hartman, senior Ryan Jones and junior Matt Kanetsky were selected First Team Academic All-OAC, while senior Jarred Jones took Second Team Academic honors.

"We were plagued by injuries all season, but we never made

"Going 4-1 in the second half of the season showed that this was a team with character and was not about to quit," senior Curt Hartman said.

Senior Brian Christopher and Hartman, both three-year starters, earned First-Team All OAC honors, with Hartman also grabbing First-Team Academic honors. Sophomore Zach Weber, who rushed for 1,723 all-purpose yards, was named Second-Team

"The team's biggest accomplishment during the season was definitely overcoming all the injuries and playing Mount very tough," Christopher said. "I also feel that the team chemistry became better fused as the season went on. I feel that our strong finish will help to keep the winning tradition of ONU football alive."

Ready to snap the ball, the ONU polar bears go up against Marietta. The football team won their Homecoming game 42-10 on their way to a 5 and 4 season in the OAC.

The volleyball team finished the season with an overall record of 23-10 and an Ohio Athletic Conference record of 9-0. Head coach Kate Witte, along with assistant coaches Brian Hofman and Jacque Strahley, led the Lady Polar Bears.

Witte, proud of her team, dedication and athletic ability at the end of the season. Senior Tara Anderson and sophomore Hannah Kanuckel were named First Team All-OAC, freshman setter Erika Roof grabbed Second Team honors and sophomore Janet Wilber took home Honorable Mention.

Anderson, who became ONU's career leader in kills with

commented, "The ONU volleyball team won its 16th OAC conference title and has appeared in 19 of the 22 Division III Volleyball Tournaments since the NCAA began sponsoring volleyball as a championship sport in 1981. The team possessed exceptional team chemistry and great team cohesiveness through the entire year, and that is one of the main reasons for the success of a young team this past season."

Many players received awards for their hard work,

Jennifer Smith

1708, was also named All-Academic OAC, along with senior Molly Schrader. Roof set a new freshman record with 1579 assists and was named OAC and AVCA Region

"We kept the tradition going this year," Wilber said, "and I am looking forward to next season to do it all over again and go even further."

Involvement in a battle at the net, Jen Ginn, Hannah Kanuckel, Diane Gehret and Molly Schrader fight Baldwin-Wallace for the point. ONU won the match in a thrilling fashion, overcoming BW in five games.

Willing to get "down and dirty," senior Molly Schrader makes a nice move to keep the ball in play. Schrader led the team with the most digs, averaging close to seven per game.

A blend of veterans and newcomers scored consistently throughout the season, leading the men's cross-country team to a 53-36 record. Although the leading seven runners on the team were mostly young, the team made a strong showing at the OAC Meet, placing sixth overall and college racing experience, they will be tough to beat. Overall, I feel that our team had a successful season that was capped off by sending three runners to the NCAA Division III Great Lakes Regional Meet."

Seniors Tuten, Eric Heitkamp and Ben Moyer led the team, along with Head Coach Brian Cole, in his sixth season, sending three runners to the Division III Great Lakes Regional meet on ONU's home course at Hawthorne Hills Golf Course.

"This year's team was a very young team that has an enormous amount of talent and potential that is still being developed," said senior Jed Tuten. "Given another year of

and new assistant coach Jason Maus. As sophomore Mike Meyer notes, "Our team had an outstanding season and will only improve with more experience. The coaching staff was really good, and the addition of Maus as assistant coach really helped to strengthen the program. We really came together and ran well this year."

Keeping each other company, ONU runners Teresa Kirk and Elizabeth Terelle are sticking close together as they run. With about 150 participants from eleven schools, it would be easy to get lost in the crowd.

Giving one last effort, freshman Jenea Bossley crosses the finish line of ONU's cross country meet. Due to campus construction, this year's Ohio Northern-hosted meet was held on a nearby golf course.

The men's soccer team kicked its way to a winning season with a 9-7-4 overall record and a 2-5-2 record in the Ohio Athletic Conference. The team was led by head coach Brent Ridenour, along with assistant coaches Nate Kear, Dave Knapp, Matt Ellis, Michael Gee and Brendan outstanding job leading us and bringing the team together. It was an exciting season. We were able to win some important non-conference games but ran into some stiff competition during conference play. In addition to their regular schedule, the team won three tournaments, including the Adidas Classic Tournament on September 6 and 7 and the Border Wars Classic September 13 and 14, both hosted by ONU. They were ranked 23rd in the nation at one point and also ranked in the top ten in the region for seven consecutive weeks.

According to Ridenour, "Our four seniors did an

Using his head, Marc Pupillo makes contact with the ball in order to move the Bears down the field. As a sophomore, Pupillo scored four goals for the Bears.

"We didn't necessarily accomplish our goals in terms of wins and losses, but we had more success than can be measured from our record alone," stated sophomore Laura Smolinski. The women's soccer team, who finished with an overall record of 6-13-1 and a 1-7-1 record in OAC play,

"Even though we didn't win a lot, we did accomplish our goals to an extent," explained Hunt. Smolinski adds that although moral victories may not be the same as real wins, the team learned a lot from the losses, which will only make them stronger for the future.

Several of the women received various awards for their accomplished more than their record shows, according to both Smolinski and Head Coach Annette Hunt. Hunt emphasized that 6 of the 7 losses in OAC games were by one goal.

The goals of the team were communication, unity and work ethic. Although the soccer team did indeed struggle with these goals and were challenged by losses, Hunt says that the ONU team probably grew more than any other team in the conference. The team learned from its mistakes and became better from them.

The men's swimming and diving team finished the season with an overall record of 23-15, a dual meet record of 7-2 and a tri meet record of 3-1. The team followed their season by taking second place at the OAC Championships and setting 12 school records.

Marc Blohm set new records in the 50 free, 100 free and 200 free. He also was a member of the OAC Champion 800 Free Relay team with Jarrold Motice, Lukas Leitnaker and Mike Phillips. Senior David Gebbie set two school records, one in the 200 Breast with a time of 2:20.11 and also as a member of the 400 Free Relay with teammates Justin Hiskey, Mottice and Blohm.

Taking the Plunge

Head Coach Rock Snow, who was named OAC men's Coach of the Year, was pleased by his team's performance. "I was totally pleased with the awesome swims from our team. It was the very best performances in the 25-year history of our school. Being runner-up at OAC's and setting 12 new school records was unbelievable."

Senior Frank Angelone took the title of OAC men's Diver of the Year by winning the 3-meter diving title for the second year in a row and taking the number one spot in the 1-meter Dive. Senior

Meredith VanDyck

Leitnaker finished his freshman year by setting 3 individual school records in the 100 Fly, 200 Fly and 200 I.M.

Gebbie accounts the team's success to teamwork. "We had the best season in team history this year, due largely in part to teamwork. As swimming is mostly an individual sport, it takes a ton of teamwork to make it all fit together. No one can win a meet by themselves. Our team bonded this year more than in the past, and that's what made the season so great."

Senior Jackie Dight (Weirton, W.Va./Weir) earned All-American status from her finish as the national runner-up in the women's 400-meter hurdles at the NCAA Division III Outdoor Track & Field Championships. Dight entered the meet as the top seed, leading the nation by 1.36 seconds in the event, qualifying automatically with a time of :59.33, and in the meet she ran a :59.58, the second-fastest time of her career.

"I'm disappointed that I didn't win, but I ran pretty well," Dight said. "I really wanted to finish in the top two to get on ONU's Wall of Champions. That was my goal the entire season. There were some things I could have done better today, but I ran a pretty good time considering the conditions."

"I'm so proud of what Jackie accomplished in her career," ONU head coach Brian Cole said. "She ran a solid race and made Hicks beat her. To run the way she did in a steady rain was impressive. Give Hicks credit, she just ran a great race today."

Dight is a five-time All-American in the hurdle events. She is a three-time All-American in the 400 hurdles, finishing third last year and was seventh as a sophomore in 2001. She also finished fifth in the 55-meter hurdles each of the past two seasons at the NCAA III Indoor Championships. She has won a school record 17 OAC Championships in the hurdle, sprint and relay events and has earned All-Conference accolades 32 times during her career, and she owns or shares eight school records.

This year, Dight was named the OAC Indoor Track Athlete of the Year for the second consecutive season after winning three events and earning All-OAC accolades five times at the OAC Indoor Championships. Dight also won three OAC Outdoor Championships, earned All-Conference accolades in four events and was named the OAC Outdoor Track Athlete of the Year. Dight was named the Great Lakes Region Athlete of the Year for the second consecutive season, and was Ohio Northern's female Clyde Lamb Award winner this year for the school's top senior woman student/athlete and was a Second Team Academic All-OAC honoree.

Miners on the surface reach out to shake hands with the fourth miner as he is lifted from the hole in the capsule at the Quecreek mine. Nine miners were pulled one-by-one from the watery, 240-foot-deep shaft where they had been trapped for three days.

Space Shuttle Columbia crew David Brown, Rick Husband, Laurel Clark, Kalpana Chawla, Michael Anderson, William McCool and Israeli astronaut Ilan Ramon are shown in this crew photo. NASA feared the worst after losing communication with space shuttle Columbia as the ship soared over Texas several minutes before its expected landing on Feb. 1, 2003.

Buses coming from North Korea pass by guarding South Korean soldiers at the demilitarized zone in Kosong, a town in South Korea's east coast. More than 100 South Koreans traveled to North Korea by bus to mark the opening of a newly built overland route linking the rival states, despite the current nuclear standoff on the Korean peninsula.

Soldiers of 1st Brigade, 101st Airborne Division (Air Assault), mourn the loss of Capt. Christopher Seifert at a memorial ceremony at Camp Pennsylvania in Kuwait. Seifert was killed when a grenade was thrown into a sleep tent early Sunday morning by a fellow U.S. soldier. The attack left 15 other soldiers wounded.

The Northern Yearbook would not have been possible without the wonderful support of the Ohio Northern community. There are many people, named and unnamed, who deserve a big thank you.

First, I would like to thank my editorial staff for working so hard this year.

Individual portrait pictures days are another busy time for the yearbook staff. I would like to thank Mr. Bob Beer and Mr. Butch West for providing the student information necessary for these pictures. Thanks also to Jim McAdams for his photography services.

Sports Information and Public Information have assisted

Between the Lines

I wish seniors Katie Schott, Nathan Gabriel and Roxanne Weaver the best of luck after graduation. I am looking forward to having Angela Swiergosz return to duty in 2004. Thanks also to the general yearbook staff for all your hours of hard work. I would like to thank Melanie Caw Woods for her patience with me this year as I learned my new position.

Steve Mankey and his staff deserve a huge thank you for their help with distribution in the fall. They helped us deliver books and allowed us to store the extras in their warehouse. You made a difficult time go smoothy, and we appreciate your help.

Ashley Dally

us this year by providing a wider range of pictures when we needed them. I would especially like to thank John Holinka and Tim Glon for their help with team photos and sports pictures. Also, thanks to Tom Simmons and the coaches for their prompt help with the team photo individual names.

Thank you to Will Spence, our Herff-Jones representative, for your guidance this year.

Finally, thank you to everyone not mentioned who helped us by writing an article or providing a picture. This book is for everyone at Ohio Northern. Please enjoy it, and remember to "read between the lines."

Always ready for adventure, seniors Joe Sturgill, Todd Dunlap and Aaron Thompson decide which creek to conquer next. Exploring the area around the Metzger Nature Center was a great part of the ONU Archaeological Field School experience.
